Many people are currently looking for new places to live. These can be temporary or permanent. The new centres of life are being sought at home and abroad, often as investments. Many of those looking for new places to live are playing GOLF!

Schöner Living GOLF is the name of the exhibition for new centres of life at the popular Rheingolf trade fair in Düsseldorf. At Station Airport, the Rheingolf location, Schöner Living has its own level, the gallery with its spectacular views of the airfield with its jets taking off and landing.

Only 13 stand areas of 9, 12 and 18 square metres are available here. The visitor restaurant and the 'Campus' stage are located on the same level. This is where exhibitors have the opportunity to present themselves. The separate level, which can be reached by escalators from the ground floor, is important for exhibitors at Schöner Living. Visitors who do not play golf and are not interested in golf go directly to the Schöner Living GOLF exhibitors. Golf visitors are of course also interested in what they have to offer, as golf property is very much in vogue.

Who exhibits at Schöne Living GOLF?

Property developers - property providers and agencies in Germany and abroad - providers of holiday homes. However, the offer must be located directly on golf courses or in the vicinity of golf courses

The Airport station in the airport railway station is easy to reach. The direct proximity to Düsseldorf Airport allows day visitors to fly in. The international exhibitors welcomed the uncomplicated arrival and departure. More than half of all visitors took advantage of the convenient and environmentally friendly journey by S-Bahn, Regio-Bahn and ICE.

Schöner Living GOLF co-operates with Welt am Sonntag. On the Sunday before the exhibition days, a special page is published in the Sunday newspaper with the highest circulation in NRW. Each of the 13 exhibitors at Schöner Living will be featured.
